Rejected Lover.

LONDON, Sept. 21 .- Police intestigation shows that the shooting, early this morning, of Daisy Montague, the Empire Theatre darcer, and the gentleman who was escorting her to her home in Regent's Square, Gray's Inn road, was caused by jealousy.

The man who did the shooting and who then killed himself was named Lee Percy. He was an electrician. Percy had been engaged to marry Miss Montague, but a short time ago the lat-ter broke off the engagement, having. it appears, formed a fri idship for Samuel Garcia, a tradesman, the man whom Percy shot this morning. Percy brooded over his disappointment, which he attributed to the fact that his rival had more money than he.

Engineer, Fireman and Conductor Badly Wounded

Two Desperadoes Escape, but Are Afterwards Captured.

CENTRALIA, DL. Sept. 21.-The New Orleans limited train on the lilinois Central road was held up shortly before midnight last night just outside this city. In the battle which followed beone of the robbers was mortally badly hurt.

Those who were hurt in the shooting incident to the attack were Engineer Young, Conductor Odum, Fireman Mc-Dowell and the robber, whose name is George Jones.

The train left Chicago at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and reached this city at 11.05 P. M. Three men, heavily armed and carrying tools which later came into play, boarded the front end of the express car.

Just beyond Centralia Engineer Young and Fireman McDowell heard a noise on the tender behind them. Both turned and saw 'me muzzles of two big revolvers starting them in the face.

"Keep your mouths shut and step the machine, or we'll shoo," the robbers cried.

"Keep your mouths shut and step the machine, or we'll shoo'," the robbers cried.

The engineer and fireman sprang at the robbers, who fired, and the trainmen fell wounded on the platforms connecting cab and tender.

One of the masked robbers sprang over the forms of the bleeding men and stopped the train. Then one of the robbers ran back to the coaches, and, revolver in hand, stood guard over Baggagemaster Armstrong and Brakeman Stacey. The two other thieves elimbed to the top of the express car, in which were the messenger of the American Express Company and Conductor Odum. Then followed a battle royal. The messenger and conductor, partly barricaded by boxes and packages, fired at the robbers as fast as they could shoot. The thieves fired, too, but they were at a disadvantage.

During the shooting the conductor received a slight pistol wound in the hand.

On the train, deadheading his way, was P. J. Sanders, a brakeman on the road. He came to the rescue of the conductor and messenger armed with a shoot the conductor and messenger from the rear.

The attacked the robbers from the rear, and, though in ture attacked by the third robber, managed to shoot one of those in the express car through the body.

The others, seeing their companion fall, took to their heels and got away through the trees and fields.

The Express Company officials received a message early this morning, saying that the wounded gobber could not live, as he was shot through the body. Brakeman Sanders levelled a shotgun at him and fired point blank. He was riddled with shot and fell to the floor of the car bleeding and crying for mercy. On his person were found passes under the name of Dan L. Jones and at travelling card from a Chicago order of railway trainmen issued Aug. 24. Also a switchman's card issued by the Santa Fe route at Kansas City.

He gave the names of the other two robbers as Martin Nichols and Hardin were captured early this morning in a cornfield not far from the scene of the "hold up. A fourth man, whose name is yet unknown to the railway officials, was caught about 6 oclock this morning at Odin, a town about ten miles north of here.
